Does the Idea of Retirement Planning Make You Want to Hide? Four Quadrants Advisory Can Help!

So many dentists just like you don't know where to start when it comes to retirement planning. How much should I save? When should I start?

The average 40 year old dentist saved about $28,205 per year for retirement in 2010. After using our techniques for only 24 months, our average client has saved $81,733 a year – without changing their lifestyle or dramatically increasing production!

It's Time to Come Out of Hiding

With today's volatile stock market and ever-changing, complicated tax landscape, isn't it time you got really serious about a new kind of custom financial plan for your future? Make 2013 the year that you finally tie together cash flow, accounting, investments, and transition.

According to the 2010 ADA Survey on Retirement and Investment,

Dentists saved only 17.3% of family net income (about $25,000) annually for their retirement.

Not enough to maintain their current lifestyle.
